Public Compliance Criteria List - Trade Certification

Compliance Criteria are established by FLOCERT to translate requirements of the Fairtrade Standards and FLOCERT requirements into verifiable control points that are evaluated during the certification process to determine compliance with the Fairtrade Standards. Non-conformity with a Compliance Criterion is considered a non-conformity with the respective standard requirement. Each Compliance Criterion is linked to a specific timeline indicating when it needs to be fulfilled.

There are six types of Compliance Criteria:

Core (C): reflect Fairtrade principles and must be complied with.

Major (M): reflect key Fairtrade principles where non-compliance represents a major risk to the Fairtrade system. Non-conformity with a major compliance criterion may lead to certification sanctions.

Voluntary Best Practice (V): refer to additional steps that all supply chain actors can take to foster even fairer trading conditions. These are voluntary and not required in order to be in compliance with the Fairtrade Trader Standard.

Reactive (R): reflect criteria related to the reactive assurance approach applied for requirements of the Trader Standard Production chapter. They apply to all traders but are only proactively checked IF there are indications of non-compliance. Indications can be obtained e.g., via allegations or via observations during trader audits.

Specific (S): criteria which are used by FLOCERT's auditors as preparation questions for the audit - you can find them in the "Preparation Questions" part of the checklist. They are not relevant for customers.

Follow-up (F): criteria which are only applicable to follow-up audits.

Instead of a plain yes/no-approach there are 5 levels of compliance, called ranks. Rank 1 and 2 indicate non-compliance whereas ranks 3 to 5 indicate compliance with the Fairtrade Standards. The FLOCERT Public Compliance Criteria List - Trader Certification - is based on the Fairtrade Trader Standard (version dated April 16th, 2024) and the Fairtrade Product Standards published by Fairtrade International. This version of the Compliance Criteria supersedes all previous versions. The Compliance Criteria are published in several languages. In the case of an interpretation dispute in any of the published languages, the English version of the Compliance Criteria prevails.

How to use this document?

Not all Compliance Criteria must be met in all cases; some apply only for certain products and others apply only to certain types of traders. This is indicated in brackets at the beginning of the respective criterion. To find out which requirements are applicable, you should first identify which type of trader you are (payer, conveyor, non-payer). This will depend on whom you are buying from and on the level the price is set in the Fairtrade Minimum Price and Premium Table (available at www.fairtrade.net). Annex 1 of the Fairtrade Trader Standard provides detailed information on this topic.

Please contact FLOCERT in case of doubt.
