1 Purpose

This Standard Operating Procedure describes how to apply for Fairtrade certification.

2 Area of Application

The process outlined in this document applies to requests and applications for Fairtrade certification, including Fairtrade certification scope extensions.

2.1 Who needs to apply for Fairtrade certification?

All organizations/companies (producers and traders) wishing to transact under Fairtrade conditions need to be Fairtrade certified and therefore apply for Fairtrade certification. Organizations/companies that receive or handle Fairtrade Premiums must also apply for Fairtrade certification.

2.2 Use of Fairtrade Mark

To use the FAIRTRADE Mark on a consumer ready product, you must have a valid license contract with a National Fairtrade Organization or with Fairtrade International.

- If you are interested in using the FAIRTRADE Mark on consumer ready products, please refer to the Fairtrade Organization responsible for the market where you are located. For further information please refer to the website of Fairtrade International <http://www.fairtrade.net/>
- If you are interested in using the FAIRTRADE Mark on unfinished products or on promotional materials, please contact Fairtrade International at artwork@fairtrade.net

3 Languages and Translations

FLOCERT operates in the following five languages: English, Spanish, French, Portuguese and German. This means that customer service and documentation are provided in at least these five languages, while FLOCERT's website and other marketing material are maintained in English and Spanish.

English as the primary language will be used in case of conflict of interpretation between translated documents.

4 Applicability

4.1 Fairtrade scope

You can apply for Fairtrade certification only for products included under the Fairtrade scope defined by Fairtrade International. The Fairtrade scope comprises the following:

1. The product for which certification is requested
2. The country where the product is cultivated / traded
3. The setup of the organization / company requesting Fairtrade certification

Explanations on product type, setup of an organization, etc. can be found in Section 10 – Definitions in this document.

In order to obtain Fairtrade certification you will be required to prove compliance with the applicable Fairtrade Standards. FLOCERT advises you to familiarize yourself with the relevant Fairtrade Standards requirements and FLOCERT Compliance Criteria before submission of an official application.

7 Discontinuation of application

If you have paid the application fee but have not submitted all documents required, FLOCERT will retain your application request active for a maximum period of 12 months. After this period your application will be considered as discontinued. Should you wish to apply for Fairtrade certification after this 12 month period, you will be requested to go through the entire application process again, including the payment of the application fee.

8 Re-applications

8.1 Re-application after certification was denied

Should you have been denied certification after the initial audit was conducted, you are not required to pay the application fee and submit application documents if you re-apply within 12 months after certification denial. However following conditions may apply:

- You will receive a new initial certification fee invoice and upon payment a new initial audit will be scheduled.
- If you are a Trader, you will not be eligible for Permission to Trade. An audit will be conducted to verify that you have corrected all pending non-conformities that led to the previous denial of certification.

8.2 Re-application after decertification due to non-compliance/ non-payment of certification fees/ voluntary decertification

Should you have been decertified due to non-compliance with the Fairtrade Standards, non-payment of certification fees or had voluntarily sought decertification, you may re-apply under the following conditions:

- Any outstanding fees prior to your decertification have to be paid.
- If you re-apply within 12 months after decertification: You do not need to pay the application fee and submit application documents but you will be invoiced an initial certification fee.
- If you re-apply more than 12 months of decertification: You will be asked to hand in the application documents and you will be invoiced the application fee and the initial certification fee.
- You may have to undergo an audit before re-entering the Fairtrade certification system if deemed necessary by FLOCERT.
- All pending major non-conformities identified during your previous audit, would have to be corrected.

8.3 Re-application after decertification with moratorium for re-entry

Should you have been decertified with a moratorium for re-entry, you can re-apply under the following conditions:

- The period of the moratorium imposed together with the decertification decision has passed before you hand in a new application request.
- You have implemented the necessary measures to make the changes in your operation or management that allow you to comply with the criteria and Fairtrade Standards which caused the decertification. During the application process, you send evidence of the measures implemented .
- You do not sell as Fairtrade those products that you have on stock at the time of re-entry.

9 Organizations located in Risk Areas

If you are located in a region/country that is considered a risk area due to war, civil unrest, natural disaster or disease, FLOCERT might not be able to send an auditor to conduct the initial audit as per our Certification SOP. FLOCERT follows the guidelines of the Foreign & Commonwealth Office of the United Kingdom and ultimately the German Office of Foreign Affairs in order to decide if travelling to these locations could potentially pose a threat to the security and wellbeing of the auditor.

10 Definitions

Fairtrade Standards: Fairtrade Standards, comprising Fairtrade Generic Standards and Fairtrade Product Specific Standards, are a set of requirements that producers and traders have to meet in order to obtain Fairtrade certification.

National Fairtrade Organization: Full member of Fairtrade International responsible for licensing, marketing, business development and raising awareness in a defined geographic area.

Fairtrade Marketing Organization: An organization contracted by Fairtrade International for marketing, business development and raising awareness in a defined geographic area. Fairtrade International continues to be responsible for licensing in these areas.

Compliance criteria: Compliance criteria are a translation of the Fairtrade Standard requirements and FLOCERT certification policies into verifiable control points. These criteria are monitored during the certification process to determine compliance with the Fairtrade Standards and with certification requirements.

FLO ID: Unique identification number which is assigned to all Fairtrade customers by FLOCERT. The assignment of a FLO ID does not necessarily imply that a customer is certified.

Application ID: A temporary identification number which is assigned to track applications before a FLO ID is assigned.

Product category: Refers to the respective Fairtrade product standard classification such as fresh fruit, cocoa, coffee, flowers, etc.

Product type: Is always directly derived from a Fairtrade product standard and describes the different products summarized within one product category.

Single Plantation (SE) A plantation can be certified as Single Plantation under the Fairtrade Standard for Hired Labour Standard if it has several production sites producing the same product and all HR decision are made at a central level and all files (contracts, health records, pay roll incl. overtime records) are kept centrally.

Multi Estate (ME) A plantation has to be certified as ME under the Fairtrade Standard for Hired Labour Standard if it has several production sites where

- different working conditions apply due to separate administration / management (e.g. rules for overtime, different recruitment practices, different workers representatives) and / or

- different production practices apply (e.g. application of agrochemicals, H&S requirements etc.) because different Fairtrade products are produced on the production sites and/or
- working conditions cannot be verified in the head office because workers' files (contracts, overtime records, health records etc.) are kept at the production sites and/or
- there are separate FPCs on the different production sites

Additionally, a plantation may choose to be certified as ME if they have several production sites but only want to include some of those into the certificate (partial certification).

Guidance: If production sites are not very close but the same production practices / working conditions apply, the plantation can still be certified as SE., then travel time can be added to the audit time if necessary. The same applies if one production site is organic and one conventional but the same product is produced and the same working conditions apply.

2nd / 3rd grade organization: Small Producer Organization whose legal members are exclusively 1st / 2nd grade organization affiliates.

Additional entity: Any entity including, but not limited to, additional sites and subcontractors involved with Fairtrade products and whose activities are controlled by the certified operator through ownership or by contract.

Pure Licensee: Traders that buy and sell finished Fairtrade products and have a license agreement with an NFO. They are out of scope of Fairtrade certification.
